As my career profile illustrates, I am ready to make an immediate and longstanding contribution to your firm. Having contracted as Software Engineer within Accenture - JP Morgan Chase & Co. my skill set is well suited to your needs. I know what it takes to balance competing tasks, adapt to shifting priorities, and proactively address emergent issues. Additionally, my talents in communication and relationship building will enable me to seamlessly integrate with your team and provide exceptional service to your clients.

Here are some of my key contributions,

- Designing, developing, debugging, testing, and deploying Java applications under fast paced and Agile environment.
- Designed production release and implementation plans by leveraging professional and technical expertise.

Despite my rewarding two-year journey at JP Morgan Chase & Co., my hunger for learning continues. I am currently pursuing an MS in IT through online studies, slated for completion by December 2024. Balancing full-time work with academic commitments has honed my adaptability and time management skills, maintaining a top-of-the-class 4.0 GPA alongside my professional engagements.
